

Nyt netværk om "Den Løsfundne Kulturarv"

Abstract

New network on Plow Zone artifacts

The article presents an initiative from the National Museum – a new network on the objects found out of archeological context. The first meeting in the network was held in Jelling in March 2022 with participants from all professional branches of research: universities, local museums and the National Museum. The following presentation is centered on the background for the initiative and a debate on the potential of the huge material as a many-faceted research topic.
